HOMER BY MANAGER HARRIS PUTS SEATERS IN FRONT IN LAST GAME

Interest in Last Contest Almost Stops Wheels Of Government—Thousands Scramble All Night For Seats at Closing Tilt.

The lineup:
New York—Lindstrom, 3b; Frisch, 2b; Young, rf; Kelly, cf; Terry, 1b; Wilson, lf; Jackson, ss; Gowdy, c; Barnes, p.

Washington—McNeely, cf; Harris, 2b; Rice, rf; Goslin, lf; Judge, 1b; Bluege, ss; Taylor, 3b; Ruel, c; Ogden, p; Mogridge, p.

Griffith Stadium, Washington, Oct. 10.—A home run by Captain Harris gave the Senators an edge of one run at the end of the fifth inning of the seventh and final game of the World series between the New York Giants and Washington Senators. Harris's hit was the only hit made by Washington during the first five innings.

Barnes, a young righthander started on the mound for the Senators with Hank Gowdy receiving his shoos. Ogden was on the mound for the Senators but was taken out in the first inning when he walked Frisch after fanning Lindstrom. Mogridge took up the hurling assignment.

For the Giants, Terry went to first base, and Kelly was shifted to center field with a right hander in the box for Washington. Taylor played third for the Senators, and Bluege was shifted to short.

A crowd of 35,000 frenzied fans packed the big stadium rooting for the Senators.

First Inning. N. Y.—Lindstrom struck out. Frisch walked. Mogridge replaced Ogden on the mound.

WHEAT PRODUCTION WILL EXCEED LAST YEAR SAYS REPORT

Experts Estimate Grain Production Through-out Country

Washington, Oct. 9.—The department of agriculture estimates that wheat production in the United States this year will total 856,000,000 bushels, against 786,000,000 bushels last year.

The estimate represents an increase of 19,000,000 bushels over the production of 837,000,000 bushels estimated a month ago on the basis of the crop's condition of Sept. 1.

Total corn production was estimated at 2,459,000,000 bushels, against 2,046,000,000 bushels last year.

Winter wheat will account for 589,300,000 bushels of this year's total, while spring wheat will comprise the remainder of 266,000,000 bushels, according to the department's estimates.

Other estimates of this year's crop production included oats 1,509,000,000 bushels, barley 201,000,000 bushels, rye 65,800,000 bushels and sugar beets 1,430,000 tons.

Farm price of wheat as of Sept. 15 was given by the department as $1.12, compared to 91 cents on Sept. 15 last year; corn $1.097 against 86.20 cents last year; oats 47.1 cents against 38 cents; barley 75.6 cents against 51.9 cents, and rye 80.1 cents against 57.2 cents.

FATHER OF MRS. KARL BABB DIES

Judge J. M. Swartz of Granville, father of Mrs. Karl Babb of this city, died suddenly Friday morning at his home, the result of a stroke of paralysis, according to a message received by Mr. and Mrs. Babb.

Judge Swartz, who was 79 years of age, was a former judge of the Circuit Court in the district in which he has lived all his life. With the exception of the years he spent on the bench he was a practicing attorney in Granville. He was born in Wayne County.

Surviving him are his widow, and five children. Besides Mrs. Babb he leaves two other daughters and two sons: Mrs. Frank Whitfort of Ft. Valley, Ga.; Mrs. William Evans of Hebron, Ohio; Robert of Columbus and John C. of Zanesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Babb went to Granville Friday afternoon.

ADMITS MURDER OF BRIDE

NAMES WHEELER AND BROOKHART IN NEW CHARGES

Buffalo Democrat Implicates Pair In Affidavit.

Shows How Wheeler Induced Woman To Testify.

Burlington, Iowa, Oct. 10.—Daniel F. Steck, Democratic candidate for United States senator, read an alleged affidavit by A. L. Fink of Buffalo in a speech here last night.

The affidavit purports to describe how Senator Burton K. Wheeler induced Roxie Stinson to testify against former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty.

In his speech Steck charged that his Republican opponent, Senator Smith W. Brookhart, assisted in obtaining Fink's services to induce Miss Stinson to testify. He said he has started petitions to Attorney General Stone requesting an investigation of the Daugherty investigation committee.

According to Steck, the affidavit said that Fink, in return for assistance in the senate investigation, was promised the office of internal revenue collector in Buffalo and that his attorney, Henry Stern of Buffalo, was promised a federal judgeship in New York. The affidavit said these promises were made by Senator Wheeler. It asserted that Wheeler promised Miss Stinson opportunity for personal gain on the New York stock market if she would testify.

Steck quoted Fink as saying he went to Cleveland Feb. 18, last, on business. From newspapers he learned that Roxie Stinson, a friend of 12 years ago, had fallen heir to a considerable amount of money. In need of additional funds for his business, he requested Miss Stinson to meet him. They went to a hotel to discuss his affairs, but Miss Stinson interrupted, the affidavit said, with the statement: "I have a far bigger deal on right now and you ought to come in on it."

"I asked her what it was," Steck read from the affidavit, "and she told me that she was being defrauded out of her just portion of Jesse Smith's estate by Harry M. Daugherty, because he refused to recognize her or allow Smith to have her in Washington all the time they were in office, and that she was prepared, if necessary, to invent stories that would incriminate Daugherty to such an extent that he would be forced to resign from office; also that she expected to sell her story for $150,000, which she felt she was entitled to. She asked me if I would get some strong Democrat to purchase the story she concocted."

According to the affidavit, Fink "realized that the women knew nothing positive, but was depending purely upon hearsay and gossip." He left her, he said, and laid the matter before Samuel Ungerleider, a Cleveland broker. He and Ungerleider called on Miss Stinson. Ungerleider told her that she had no "possible proof of guilt of Harry M. Daugherty," and warned her that if she persisted in her plan he would "have her locked up for malicious slander of a government official."

ERECTION OF PUBLIC BUILDINGS IS LESS

Columbus, Oct. 10.—The September report of Thomas P. Kearns, chief of the workshops and factories division of the state department of industrial relations, shows that construction of public buildings is on the decrease. Sets of plans numbering 73 were approved and six rejected during the month, a decided decrease in both cases as compared to the report of August, Kearns said. Preliminary plans submitted numbered 54, also fewer than the month preceding it. In approved plans, however, there were 16 new schools, five churches and one theater.

Greater activity by the deputies was reported. Inspection tours numbered 2,671 for September, as compared with 2,358 in August. Orders issued for the improvement of safety and sanitary conditions for the month totaled 704 against 528 for the previous month. In nine school buildings inspected it was necessary to order the structures placed within the requirements of law, and 11 of 15 public halls and three of five theaters inspected, also must be improved. No prosecutions were reported for the month.

TUCSON, ARIZONA, SENDS UP NOISY GREETING TO SHENANDOAH PASSING ON ITS WAY WEST

Tucson, Ari., Oct. 10.—Sailing majestically over this city just after daybreak the big dirigible Shenandoah enroute to San Diego, was given a rousing welcome.

The giant airship was sighted over the city at 6:35 a. m. (mountain time) her great body glistening in the rising sun. The entire population of the city was out, thousands having waited for her appearance the greater part of the night. Every available noise making apparatus was called in to play making a mighty din which must have carried up to the level at which the airship was flying.

The dirigible did not pause in her westward flight, but continued toward the California line, following the air trail of the round the world flyers over the right of ways in the Southern Pacific.

USE MOTOR TRUCKS IN NEW MARKETING PLANS OF BUREAU

Farm Bureau Takes New Step In Co-operative Plan.

Columbus, Oct. 10.—According to the live stock marketing department of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation, the use of motor truck and concentrating yards in handling shipments is the latest step taken by co-operative live stock groups of Ohio to improve marketing of the product of their members. In Van Wert, Fayette and Darke counties live stock co-operatives have started handling a large portion of their business this way. At present steps are being taken to inaugurate either trucking or concentrating service or both in Paulding, Allen, Hardin, Shelby, Clinton, Ross, Knox, Stark and Carroll counties.

The use of yards at which live stock may be gathered before shipment offers a number of advantages to the producer, according to J. R. Allgayer of the federation. It gives greater opportunity for sorting live stock, so that uniform stock may move directly to packers without going to terminal markets, thus increasing returns to the producer. On those shipments that go to the terminal the co-operation point brings savings in shrinkage, losses and marketing expenses, since it allows frequent shipment, and loading in double deck cars, which move with less cost along these lines, he says.

WILL INVESTIGATE ALUMINUM COMPANY

Washington, Oct. 10.—The department of justice is prepared to investigate charges made by the federal trade commission concerning alleged monopolistic tendencies of the Aluminum Company of America, but will take no action until the commission submits a copy of the report, Attorney General Stone said. The report of the commission answered a senate resolution, but Stone said he had informed the commission when he took office that he desired the commission to give him any evidence of federal violations and he assumed therefore that it would be done in this case.

TEACHERS TO MEET

Cleveland, Oct. 10.—At least 10,000 school teachers will convene in public hall Oct. 24 for the annual fall meeting of the Northeastern Ohio Teachers' association. Speakers will include Norman Angell, author of "The Great Illusion"; Eric C. Hopwood, editor of the Plain Dealer; Dr. E. E. Slosson, Washington, and Thomas R. Marshall, former vice president.

THREE SUSPECTS HELD

Elkins, W. Va., Oct. 10.—Three negroes, former employees of the Rock Island Coal company, were arrested in connection with the shooting at the company's mine at Meriden in which Lee J. Sandridge, general manager and vice president of the company, and three of his assistants were wounded from ambush. The mine officials are expected to recover.

YOUTH TAKEN IN CUSTODY BY FATHER AFTER LEADING OFFICIALS TO NEW GRAVE

Confesses Riddling Body of Bride of Only Thirteen Days With Bullets—Deputy Sheriff Father Arrests Own Son.

Carlinville, Ill., Oct. 10.—Arrested by his own father, Lester Kahl, 24 year old son of Deputy Sheriff E. A. Kahl of Shipman, sixteen miles south of here, today was being held in jail with a net of gruesome evidence tightly drawn about him as the slayer of his pretty thirteen day bride, Margaret, 21.

While Sheriff John Russell was preparing for an emergency, in case the high feeling might lead to an attempt lynch young Kahl, a corner's jury was being sworn in to hold an inquest over the bullet-riddled body of the bride.

Prize Beauty Will Be Airplane Pilot.

MISS GLADYS MARTIN

Miss Gladys Martin, of Wichita, Kan., was selected as a prize beauty to represent Wichita at the International Air Races at Dayton, Ohio. Her airplane ride to Dayton so thrilled her that she immediately enrolled in a Dayton flying school for a flying course. She will be Kansas's first licensed woman aviator. Miss Martin, who is only twenty, and weighs only ninety-five pounds, is said by fliers to have more nerve than experienced aviators.

LA FOLLETTE WILL TOUR THOROUGH WEST

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Senator La Follette begins his tour of the west today at Detroit. He ended the eastern invasion at Newark, N. J., where he expressed confidence that the fight for a new alignment in American politics will be a success, and predicted that "either the Republican or the Democratic party will cease to exist for the next four years." The progressive party, as he described it, was born as a revolt against the "two cynical, mocking, arrogant masks of the idealism of Thomas Jefferson and Abraham Lincoln." Asserting that the control of the government had fallen into a few hands, La Follette challenged President Coolidge to refute the charge that "those now in control of the government at Washington do not represent the people, but those who exploit the people."

LIBRARIANS ELECT

Columbus, Oct. 10.—At the final business session of the Ohio Library association here Mrs. Anna M. Tarr of Youngstown was chosen president; Miss Helen Keeler of Cleveland Heights, Miss Florence Hulings of Massillon and Miss Ora Sheffield of Napoleon vice presidents, and Miss Marie A. Newberry of Toledo, treasurer. Dayton is expected to be the next meeting place of the association, following an invitation issued by the libraries of that city. Decision will be made by the executive board.

PREMIER HOPES ELECTION WILL SAVE HIS PARTY

Thinks People Will Stand Back Of Labor Regime

Believe Party May Yet Hold Its Own In Voting

London, Oct. 10.—The British general election will be held Oct. 29, Prime Minister MacDonald announced.

"We will take this case to the people and they will sustain us," MacDonald said, referring to the defeat of the government when the house adopted the Liberal amendment to a vote of censure.

The prime minister spent the day in conference with his political advisers. MacDonald indicated in his speech in the house of commons later that the fate of Europe may hang in the balance, as the program of the labor government is inseparably bound to that of solution of the reparations and other post-war problems. The king has consented to dissolution of parliament, the prime minister announced.

The labor government's defeat came on a Liberal proposal that a committee be appointed to investigate the dropping of proceedings against a Communist editor, who had been charged with sedition.

The labor cabinet, the first to hold office in England, is not expected to resign until the nation has stated its judgment at the polls, and then only if the vote is against the party. The adverse vote Wednesday was the thirteenth defeat incurred by the Laborites in their nine months of office.

Political observers generally believe the Conservatives will make gains in the election, the Laborites holding their own and the Liberals losing. The present lineup is: Conservatives 257, Laborites 193 and Liberals 158. The Labor party has been in power through the support of the Liberals. It is almost certain that the Conservatives will remain the strongest party numerically, and it is likely that ex-Premier Baldwin will be returned to the head of the next cabinet.

The house of lords adopted the Irish boundary bill without amendment. So far as the elections are concerned, therefore, Ireland is out of the picture. There is, in fact, no great question to place before the electors.

Parliament was dissolved last night by the king's proclamation.

STONE MAY PROBE BASEBALL SCANDAL

Washington, Oct. 10.—Attorney General Stone said the department of justice will investigate the recent baseball scandal if Ban Johnson, president of the American league, who announced he was seeking such an investigation, presents adequate facts to the department. "If Ban Johnson wants the alleged baseball corruption investigated he will have to present the facts to the department of justice," said Stone. "Bribery does not constitute a prima facie federal violation, although some of the details of this particular case might place it within federal jurisdiction."

Commissioner Landis announced here that the Giants' share of the world series receipts would not be held up. "Why should it?" he asked.

THIRTY ARE DEAD IN LUZON FLOODS

Manila, Oct. 10.—Fragrantary reports of last week's typhoon in northern Luzon which began trickling in today revealed that thirty are known dead, fifteen sailboats sunk and the steamer MacArria ashore and believed a total loss.

In many towns all of the Nipa huts were destroyed and the more substantial government buildings damaged. In Amulung municipality only four houses were left standing.

All telegraph lines are down and no report have yet been received from the villages in the interior.

The Red Cross and the government moved steadily to aid the typhoon sufferers, the steamer Mauban leaving late today with supplies.

WALTER JOHNSON FAILS IN EFFORT TO HALT GIANTS AGAIN

New York, Oct. 9.—The Giants by hitting opportunely the offerings of Walter Johnson, veteran pitcher of the Washington American league champions, captured the fifth game of the world's series yesterday. New York now needs only one more game to clinch the world's championship.

Another crowd of 50,000 fans witnessed the contest. Their sympathies, which have been with the Senators throughout the New York games of the series, were particularly evident for Johnson yesterday. The veteran pitcher took his punishment grimly, and at the conclusion of the game stated he was doubtful if he would play ball next year. "I couldn't hold them," he said, referring to the game. "I had two chances to beat the Giants, but I couldn't hold them either time."

Jack Bentley, southpaw star, held the Senators to one run until the eighth inning, when he left under an outbreak that was started by Goslin's homer. But before Bentley left the game his own bat gave the Giants a lead they held to the finish. He caught one of Johnson's curves in the fifth inning for a home run into the upper tier of the right field stands, scoring Hank Gowdy ahead of him. This proved the deciding punch of the game, although the Giants came back in the eighth with a three-run rally that clinched their victory.

Another figure in the Giant onslaught was Freddie Lindstrom, 18-year-old Chicago schoolboy, who took the place of the veteran Heinie Groh at third base when the latter was injured and made four hits in five times at bat. He drove in two runs, sparked in the field and established himself as one of the greatest sensations of the series.

New York was the first to cross the plate. In the third Jackson beat out a bunt, took third on Bentley's single and scored on Lindstrom's hit. Two more runs were made in the fifth, when Gowdy singled and Bentley hit a home run into the upper right field stands. In the eighth three men circled the bases. Kelly singled to left and Terry walked. Wilson was safe when Johnson fumbled his bunt. Jackson fled to Goslin, Kelly scoring after the catch. Gowdy forced Wilson, but Terry scored and Gowdy took second on McQuillan's single over Bluege. Lindstrom singled to left, scoring Gowdy.

Washington made its first tally in the fourth inning on Judge's single, a sacrifice and Miller's safety. Another run was added in the eighth when Goslin hit a home run into the upper right field stand.

BRINGING UP FATHER

The Luxury of Love

by VIOLET DARE

AUTHOR OF "The Half-Time Wife," "Love or Fame?" ETC.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

MARY HAYWARD, a famous beauty, for six months has been nominally the wife of...

SIR NIGEL CAVENDISH, who promised her to release her at the end of that time, knowing that she loved...

BRUCE GILLIAN, and had married him during a misunderstanding with Bruce. Leaving Nigel at a camp in the Canadian Rockies, she goes to Seattle to join Bruce and make arrangements for their marriage when Nigel has had their marriage annulled. But...

WILMA RAYMOND, a friend of Nigel's, sends to the more sensational newspapers a story stating that she has eloped with Bruce, and recalling the sensational murder years ago of a man whose name was linked with Mary's. Determined to clear everything up, Mary leaves for the East without waiting for Bruce, leaving him a note insisting that she cannot marry him because of the publicity she has attracted. She goes to Maine to find...

CAMILLA WAITE, who cleared her of suspicion at the time of the murder by claiming that they were together that night.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

XLIV—THE EYES OF THE PUBLIC.

MARY dressed with great care that evening, realizing that the eyes of all her old friends who had not seen her since before she married Nigel and went abroad would be upon her. She had been enough in the limelight in the days when she was "Lovely Mary Hayward"; now, as Lady Cavendish, with the breath of scandal blowing about her, she would be even more fully in the gaze of curious eyes.

She wanted to wear her simplest frock, but instead when she went downstairs she was gowned in pale green chiffon weighted with silver-thread embroideries. It was the contradictory feud of the members of the Beach Club to dress elaborately for dinner even in this out-of-the-way spot, and Mary observed it in spite of her inclinations.

Camilla, elaborately dressed, was standing in the wide hall with another woman and two men; she beckoned Mary to her side, and introduced the others, laying mocking emphasis on Mary's name.

"It's so hard to remember that you're Lady Cavendish, dear," she murmured through the smoke of her cigarette. "Will you still retain the title after Nigel divorces you?"

Mary's cheeks flushed hotly. In the old days she would have been ready with a stinging, apt retort, but days and nights of trying to reform her mode of thinking and turn double-barrelled sarcasm into kindness had left their mark; she could only flush and answer quietly "I hardly think so."

Camilla was inclined to be malicious; all through the evening she sent barbed darts toward Mary, until Vera Atwood, furious with anger, turned on her while they were playing bridge at the same table.

"Rather bad taste, isn't it, Cam," she drawled, "for you to take up the weapons against Mary just because Bruce Gillian liked her better than he did you?"

Mary, overhearing, winced. If only Vera hadn't said that! It would be harder than ever now to persuade Camilla to tell the truth about Neale Phillips' death. Camilla was difficult enough at any time under the most favorable circumstances; now she would be impossible!

Vera had ended the one-sided warfare for that evening, at least, and departed for her own cottage at a late hour perfectly satisfied with...

Camilla was inclined to be malicious.

"They'd all gone to bed or out somewhere early in the evening; don't you remember?"

"Perhaps they had been sent out. But there was someone around the house. Mary could have proved her presence there somehow. No, my dear, that story has never been truthfully told. Mary has been indebted to Camilla ever since that night. And I believe that we're going to know why before very long."

"Oh, I don't want Mary to get into trouble," wailed Vera. "She's such a dear and has such a terribly hard time of it, always, in spite of being such a belle. I'm glad my daughter hasn't her fatal gift of beauty!"

Mary, meanwhile, had managed to have a word with Camilla, who was bent on going for a long motor ride, to drop in at a house party.

"Camilla, did you get my note?" she asked. "I left it with your maid."

"Note? I don't remember—there were so many—" the illusion of popularity was one that Camilla had always cherished. "What was it about?"

"Oh, I just said that I'd like to have a talk with you some time tomorrow. Mary answered lightly, but her eyes pleaded with the other woman for kindness and sympathy.

"Tomorrow? I don't know—I have so many things to do—" Camilla turned away. "I'll let you know in the morning," she tossed back over her shoulder.

"But I've seen the time when she wouldn't have dared snub Mary Hayward like that!" muttered a man in the group nearby.

Tomorrow—A Ray of Hope.

Harris's hit was the only hit made by Washington during the first five innings.
Barnes, a young righthander started on the mound for the Giants with Hank Gowdy receiving his shoos. Ogden was on the mound for the Senators but was taken out in the first inning when he walked Frisch after fanning Lindstrom. Mogridge took up the hurling assignment.
For the Giants, Terry went to first base, and Kelly was shifted to center field with a right hander in the box for Washington. Taylor played third for the Senators, and Bluege was shifted to short.
A crowd of 35,000 frenzied fans packed the big stadium rooting for the Senators.
First Inning. N. Y.—Lindstrom struck out. Frisch walked. Mogridge replaced Ogden on the mound.

WHEAT PRODUCTION WILL EXCEED LAST YEAR SAYS REPORT

Experts Estimate Grain Production Through-out Country

Washington, Oct. 9.—The department of agriculture estimates that wheat production in the United States this year will total 856,000,000 bushels, against 786,000,000 bushels last year.
The estimate represents an increase of 19,000,000 bushels over the production of 837,000,000 bushels estimated a month ago on the basis of the crop's condition of Sept. 1.
Total corn production was estimated at 2,459,000,000 bushels, against 2,046,000,000 bushels last year.
Winter wheat will account for 589,300,000 bushels of this year's total, while spring wheat will comprise the remainder of 266,000,000 bushels, according to the department's estimates.
Other estimates of this year's crop production included oats 1,509,000,000 bushels, barley 201,000,000 bushels, rye 65,800,000 bushels and sugar beets 1,430,000 tons.
Farm price of wheat as of Sept. 15 was given by the department as $1.142, compared to 91 cents on Sept. 15 last year; corn $1.097 against 86.20 cents last year; oats 47.1 cents against 38 cents; barley 75.6 cents against 51.9 cents; and rye 80.1 cents against 57.2 cents.

FATHER OF MRS. KARL BABB DIES

Judge J. M. Swartz of Granville, father of Mrs. Karl Babb of this city, died suddenly Friday morning at his home, the result of a stroke of paralysis, according to a message received by Mr. and Mrs. Babb.
Judge Swartz, who was 79 years of age, was a former judge of the Circuit Court in the district in which he has lived all his life. With the exception of the years he spent on the bench he was a practicing attorney in Granville. He was born in Wayne County.
Surviving him are his widow, and five children. Besides Mrs. Babb he leaves two other daughters and two sons: Mrs. Frank Whitoff of Ft. Valley, Ga.; Mrs. William Evans of Hebron, Ohio; Robert of Columbus and John C. of Zanesville.
Mr. and Mrs. Babb went to Granville Friday afternoon.

ADMITTS MURDER OF BRIDE

NAMES WHEELER
AND BROOKHART
IN NEW CHARGES

Buffalo Democrat Implies Pair In Affidavit.

Shows How Wheeler Induced Woman To Testify.

Burlington, Iowa, Oct. 10.—Daniel F. Steck, Democratic candidate for United States senator, read an alleged affidavit by A. L. Fink of Buffalo in a speech here last night.
The affidavit purports to describe how Senator Burton K. Wheeler induced Roxie Stinson to testify against former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty.
In his speech Steck charged that his Republican opponent, Senator Smith W. Brookhart, assisted in obtaining Fink's services to induce Miss Stinson to testify. He said he has started petitions to Attorney General Stone requesting an investigation of the Daugherty investigation committee.

According to Steck, the affidavit said that Fink, in return for assistance in the senate investigation, was promised the office of internal revenue collector in Buffalo and that his attorney, Henry Stern of Buffalo, was promised a federal judgeship in New York. The affidavit said these promises were made by Senator Wheeler. It asserted that Wheeler promised Miss Stinson opportunity for personal gain on the New York stock market if she would testify.

Steck quoted Fink as saying he went to Cleveland Feb. 13, last, on business. From newspapers he learned that Roxie Stinson, a friend of 12 years ago, had fallen heir to a considerable amount of money. In need of additional funds for his business, he requested Miss Stinson to meet him. They went to a hotel to discuss his affairs, but Miss Stinson interrupted, the affidavit said, with the statement: "I have a far bigger deal on right now and you ought to come in on it."

"I asked her what it was," Steck read from the affidavit, "and she told me that she was being defrauded out of her just portion of Jesse Smith's estate by Harry M. Daugherty, because he refused to recognize her or allow Smith to have her in Washington all the time they were in office, and that she was prepared, if necessary, to invent stories that would incriminate Daugherty to such an extent that he would be forced to resign from office; also that she expected to sell her story for $150,000, which she felt she was entitled to. She asked me if I would get some strong Democrat to purchase the story she concocted."

According to the affidavit, Fink "realized that the women knew nothing positive, but was depending purely upon hearsay and gossip." He left her, he said, and laid the matter before Samuel Ungerleider, a Cleveland broker. He and Ungerleider called on Miss Stinson. Ungerleider told her that she had no "possible proof of guilt of Harry M. Daugherty," and warned her that if she persisted in her plan he would "have her locked up for malicious slander of a government official."

ERECTION OF PUBLIC BUILDINGS IS LESS

Columbus, Oct. 10.—The September report of Thomas P. Kearns, chief of the workshops and factories division of the state department of industrial relations, shows that construction of public buildings is on the decrease. Sets of plans numbering 73 were approved and six rejected during the month, a decided decrease in both cases as compared to the report of August, Kearns said. Preliminary plans submitted numbered 64, also fewer than the month preceding it. In approved plans, however, there were 16 new schools, five churches and one theater.

Greater activity by the deputies was reported. Inspection tours numbered 2,671 for September, as compared with 2,358 in August. Orders issued for the improvement of safety and sanitary conditions for the month totaled 704 against 528 for the previous month. In nine school buildings inspected it was necessary to order the structures placed within the requirements of law, and 11 of 15 public halls and three of five theaters inspected, also must be improved. No prosecutions were reported for the month.

TUCSON, ARIZONA, SENDS UP NOISY GREETING TO SHENANDOAH PAS SING ON ITS WAY WEST

Tucson, Ariz., Oct. 10.—Sailing majestically over this city just after day-break the big dirigible Shenandoah enroute to San Diego, was given a rousing welcome.

The giant airship was sighted over the city at 6:35 a. m. (mountain time) her great body glinting in the rising sun. The entire population of the city was out, thousands having waited for her appearance the greater part of the night. Every available noise making apparatus was called into play making a mighty din which must have carried up to the level at which the airship was flying.

The dirigible did not pause in her westward flight, but continued toward the California line, following the air trail of the round the world flyers over the right of ways in the Southern Pacific.

USE MOTOR TRUCKS IN NEW MARKETING PLANS OF BUREAU

Farm Bureau Takes New Step In Co-operative Plan.

Columbus, Oct. 10.—According to the live stock marketing department of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation, the use of motor truck and concentrating yards in handling shipments is the latest step taken by co-operative live stock groups of Ohio to improve marketing of the product of their members. In Van Wert, Fayette and Darke counties live stock co-operatives have started handling a large portion of their business this way. At present steps are being taken to inaugurate either trucking or concentrating service or both in Paulding, Allen, Hardin, Shelby, Clinton, Ross, Knox, Stark and Carroll counties.

The use of yards at which live stock may be gathered before shipment offers a number of advantages to the producer, according to J. R. Allgayer of the federation. It gives greater opportunity for sorting live stock, so that uniform stock may move directly to packers without going to terminal markets, thus increasing returns to the producer. On those shipments that go to the terminal the concentration point brings savings in shrinkage, losses and marketing expenses, since it allows frequent shipment, and loading in double deck cars, which move with less cost along these lines, he says.

WILL INVESTIGATE ALUMINUM COMPANY

Washington, Oct. 10.—The department of justice is prepared to investigate charges made by the federal trade commission concerning alleged monopolistic tendencies of the Aluminum Company of America, but will take no action until the commission submits a copy of the report, Attorney General Stone said. The report of the commission answered a senate resolution, but Stone said he had informed the commission when he took office that he desired the commission to give him any evidence of federal violations and he assumed therefore that it would be done in this case.

Teachers To Meet

Cleveland, Oct. 10.—At least 10,000 school teachers will convene in public hall Oct. 24 for the annual fall meeting of the Northeastern Ohio Teachers' association. Speakers will include Norman Angell, author of "The Great Illusion," Eric C. Hopwood, editor of the Plain Dealer; Dr. E. E. Slosson, Washington, and Thomas R. Marshall, former vice president.

YOUTH TAKEN IN CUSTODY BY FATHER AFTER LEADING OFFICIALS TO NEW GRAVE

Confesses Riddling Body of Bride of Only Thirteen Days With Bullets—Deputy Sheriff Father Arrests Own Son.

Carlinville, Ill., Oct. 10.—Arrested by his own father, Lester Kahl, 24 year old son of Deputy Sheriff E. A. Kahl of Shipman, sixteen miles south of here, today was being held in jail with a net of gruesome evidence tightly drawn about him as the slayer of his pretty thirteen day bride, Margaret, 21.

While Sheriff John Russell was preparing for an emergency, in case the high feeling might lead to an attempt lynch young Kahl, a corner's jury was being sworn in to hold an inquest over the bullet-riddled body of the bride.

Negro Slain by Mob.
Chicago, Oct. 10.—A mob in the Jewish quarter killed William Bell, 33, a negro, who was accused of accosting two young women in the street. Police are holding Otto Epstein, who is alleged to have struck Bell with a baseball bat.

Prize Beauty Will Be Airplane Pilot.

Miss Gladys Martin, of Wichita, Kan., was selected as a prize beauty to represent Wichita at the International Air Races at Dayton, Ohio. Her airplane ride to Dayton so thrilled her that she immediately enrolled in a Dayton flying school for a flying course. She will be Kansas's first licensed woman aviator. Miss Martin who is only twenty, and weighs only ninety-five pounds, is said by fliers to have more nerve than experienced aviators.

MANY INQUIRIES AT NEW BUREAU

Columbus, Oct. 10.—According to a report submitted by William N. Smith, superintendent of the bureau of criminal identification, to Welfare Director Harper, there were received during the first quarter of the current fiscal year 3,840 inquiries regarding criminals, 706 of which were identified as having previous criminal records and of which 63 were apprehended as fugitives of justice.

American-born whites, numbering 2,343 were included in the report, as were 980 negroes and 516 foreigners. Two hundred and thirty-two women were included in the reports of persons arrested for felonies, and one Indian was the subject of inquiry. Burglary heads the list of crimes scheduled, with 295, followed by 275 arrests for grand larceny, 230 liquor law violators and 125 for murder. All of these were not from within the state. Six hundred and forty-one inquiries were handled for departments in other states and 50 identifications made.

M'NAMARA IS HELD FOR BLACKMAIL

Indianapolis, Oct. 10.—John J. McNamara, a leader in the labor war which culminated in the bombing of the Los Angeles Times and a dozen other dynamite outrages 14 years ago, was indicted by the Marion county grand jury on four charges of blackmail. McNamara, according to indictments, threatened Fred Junglauss, contractor of the new Elks' building here, in an effort to force him to use iron workers in installing window frames in the building. Five weeks after the alleged attempted blackmail vandals entered the building and did $10,000 damage to window frames and doors, which had been installed by members of the carpenters' union.

LA FOLLETTE WILL TOUR THOROUGH WEST

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Senator La Follette begins his tour of the west today at Detroit. He ended the eastern invasion at Newark, N. J., where he expressed confidence that the fight for a new alignment in American politics will be a success, and predicted that "either the Republican or the Democratic party will cease to exist for the next four years." The progressive party, as he described it, was born as a revolt against the "two cynical, mocking, arrogant masks of the idealism of Thomas Jefferson and Abraham Lincoln." Asserting that the control of the government had fallen into a few hands, La Follette challenged President Coolidge to refute the charge that "those now in control of the government at Washington do not represent the people, but those who exploit the people."

Librarians Elect.

Columbus, Oct. 10.—At the final business session of the Ohio Library association here Mrs. Anna M. Tarr of Youngstown was chosen president; Miss Helen Keeler of Cleveland Heights, Miss Florence Hulings of Massillon and Miss Ora Sheffield of Napoleon vice presidents, and Miss Marie A. Newberry of Toledo, treasurer. Dayton is expected to be the next meeting place of the association, following an invitation issued by the libraries of that city. Decision will be made by the executive board.

PREMIER HOPES ELECTION WILL SAVE HIS PARTY

Thinks People Will Stand Back Of Labor Regime

Believe Party May Yet Hold Its Own In Voting

London, Oct. 10.—The British general election will be held Oct. 29, Prime Minister MacDonald announced.

"We will take this case to the people and they will sustain us," MacDonald said, referring to the defeat of the government when the house adopted the Liberal amendment to a vote of censure.

The prime minister spent the day in conference with his political advisers. MacDonald indicated in his speech in the house of commons later that the fate of Europe may hang in the balance, as the program of the labor government is inseparably bound to that of solution of the reparations and other post-war problems. The king has consented to dissolution of parliament, the prime minister announced.

The labor government's defeat came on a Liberal proposal that a committee be appointed to investigate the dropping of proceedings against a Communist editor, who had been charged with sedition.

The labor cabinet, the first to hold office in England, is not expected to resign until the nation has stated its judgment at the polls, and then only if the vote is against the party. The adverse vote Wednesday was the thirteenth defeat incurred by the Laborites in their nine months of office.

Political observers generally believe the Conservatives will make gains in the election, the Laborites holding their own and the Liberals losing. The present lineup is: Conservatives 257, Laborites 193 and Liberals 158. The Labor party has been in power through the support of the Liberals. It is almost certain that the Conservatives will remain the strongest party numerically, and it is likely that ex-Premier Baldwin will be returned to the head of the next cabinet.

The house of lords adopted the Irish boundary bill without amendment. So far as the elections are concerned, therefore, Ireland is out of the picture. There is, in fact, no great question to place before the electors.

Parliament was dissolved last night by the king's proclamation.

STONE MAY PROBE BASEBALL SCANDAL

Washington, Oct. 10.—Attorney General Stone said the department of justice will investigate the recent baseball scandal if Ban Johnson, president of the American league, who announced he was seeking such an investigation, presents adequate facts to the department. "If Ban Johnson wants the alleged baseball corruption investigated he will have to present the facts to the department of justice," said Stone. "Bribery does not constitute a prima facie federal violation, although some of the details of this particular case might place it within federal jurisdiction."

THIRTY ARE DEAD IN LUZON FLOODS

Manila, Oct. 10.—Fragmentary reports of last week's typhoon in northern Luzon which began trickling in today revealed that thirty are known dead, fifteen sailboats sunk and the steamer MacArria ashore and believed a total loss.
In many towns all of the Nipa huts were destroyed and the more substantial government buildings damaged. In Amulung municipality only four houses were left standing.
All telegraph lines are down and no report have yet been received from the villages in the interior.
The Red Cross and the government moved steadily to aid the typhoon sufferers, the steamer Mauban leaving late today with supplies.

THREE BURGLARIES
OCCUR THURSDAY
SMALL LOOT TAKEN

Three more attempted burglaries were reported at Police Headquarters Thursday night, occurring within the space of two hours.

At the Huston and Bickett Hardware Store burglars gained entrance about 7 o'clock Thursday night, when they climbed up a telephone pole back of the store, on to the roof, broke a window pane, unhooked the snap, and gained access to the store proper by means of a back stairway. Ten pennies were taken from the cash register and several cartridges were missing. Nothing else was taken.

At 8 o'clock, Patrolman Charles Simms and Merchant Policeman Charles Phillips, while passing through an alley adjoining the Tilton Clothing Store noticed that back window in the Greene County Hardware Store had been raised and the store entered. Nothing was missing.

An attempt to enter The Pantry, a grocery store on East Main Street was also made. Thieves opened a window at the back of the grocery but on account of the stack of flour barrels piled up against the window were unable to gain an entrance.

FIREMEN ANSWER
CALLS THURSDAY

Although this is Fire Prevention Week, the Fire Department answered two calls Thursday, neither of which caused damage.

The first call Thursday morning was at the residence of Mrs. J. W. Whitlington, 115 Cincinnati Avenue. A pot of beans had been left burning on the stove, filling the house with smoke. There was no damage.

At the residence of Walter Haley, 515 Bellbrook Avenue, Thursday night, firemen found that leaves were being burned in the back yard and the smoke filling the kitchen had caused the alarm to be sent in. No damage.

Increase In Farm Labor Supply.
Columbus, Oct. 10.—A decided increase in the supply of farm labor with a consequent decrease in wages was noted by C. J. West, state federal crop statistician, upon receipt of his monthly reports from different sections of the state. According to these reports the demand for labor on farms is more than 10 per cent less than last year and the supply is reported to have increased by more than one-third.

Child Dies of Burns.
Cleveland, Oct. 10.—Vernon Troff, 6, died in a hospital from burns. His mother told police she went to an upper floor of her house, leaving Vernon in bed. She returned a few minutes later and saw the boy running about the yard, his night clothes in flames. Mrs. Troff extinguished the fire with a rug and a police ambulance took the child to the hospital. The origin of the flames was not learned.

Killed Woman and Self.
Cleveland, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Augustina Marino, 40, was killed instantly by Marino Marchese, 30. Marchese then turned the gun upon himself and ended his life. The shooting took place in an apartment house, where both resided. Each was married.

Western Reserve Head Inaugurated.
Cleveland, Oct. 10.—Dr. Robert Ernest Vinson was inaugurated president of Western Reserve university here. University trustees, the advisory council and the 460 members of the faculty and more than 200 delegates from American seats of learning attended.

"Slain" Veteran Found in Federal Prison.

Mrs. F. W. Bergeron, of Menasha, Wis., was officially notified by the War Department in 1918 that her son, Urban John Bergeron, had been killed in action in France. She did not believe it. Later his body was sent her, and although she had a stone erected over it and tenderly cared for the grave, she still believed her son lived. Now, seven years after his "death," she has located him in "Robert St. Clair," for the last eighteen months a prisoner in the Federal prison in Atlanta, Ga., where, a weakened, pale-faced veteran of the World War, he is fighting for his life against disease. She doesn't know whose body she had buried.

Margin is the difference between the "Cost of Goods Sold" and "Sales."

Suppose you were the owner of a retail store and you bought an article for seventy-five cents and sold it for a dollar. Your margin on that sale is the difference between the two prices or twenty-five cents. Margin is computed for all transactions and in this case is the difference between the "Cost of Goods Sold" and "Sales." It is usually expressed as a percentage of "Sales."

Margin is important because the difference between the margin and the expenses is the profit which the proprietor makes. The most secure insurance constant trade. Margin is retailers are usually those who are also important as a guide to help in able to operate on a low margin, for pricing.

INTELLIGENT SELFISHNESS

When we say "our aim is to serve you" it sounds like bunk, doesn't it?

But we really mean it

We're far-sighted enough to know that you people will reward good service

Our immediate profits will be smaller, to be sure, but in the long run we'll be ahead

That isn't bunk; it's intelligent selfishness

WASHINGTONS REPLY TO GENEVA

The gentlemen of Geneva did not have long to wait for their answer from Washington. Forty-seven nations there assembled have undertaken to coerce America into the League of Nations. Their first move was to forestall America's announced intention of calling a second disarmament conference. They remembered the successful Washington conference. A jealous League, viewing its own lean record on disarmament, announced a conference of its own.

Drawing up protocols of security and arbitration, the League went even further in attempted coercion. Led by the representatives of the present British and French Governments and spurred on by Japan, another blow was aimed at America. It was voted the League should arrogate unto itself power to interfere in domestic concerns of non-members of the League and non-signers of the Geneva Protocols, if and when domestic questions threatened war.

Only the most idolatrous League worshipers in America could accept such invasion of American national rights. Under the construction placed upon these Protocols, American immigration laws or other domestic concerns of this Nation might be questioned by the League. In sum the League now proposes to coerce America in American affairs, whether or not we go to Geneva.

Hardly had these extraordinary proposals reached America before Messieurs Herriot, MacDonald and Adachi had their answer. It is one neither they nor the League can mistake.

On Saturday President Coolidge dedicated a memorial to "our boys" who had gone to Europe's help, in the great time of need.

Standing with bared head in the shadow of that tall shaft, with its bronzed Winged Victory, President Coolidge reminded Americans and the League that:

"If there is anything that is dear to Americans, which they are bound to preserve at all hazards, it is their independence, I mean by that the privilege of reserving to themselves the choice of their own course and the decision of their own actions. We do not propose to intrust to any Power or to any combination of Powers any authority to make up our minds for us. * * * America has every wish to discharge her obligations. This is a condition which is not imposed upon us by artificial covenants, but which results from the natural relationship among nations.

That is the President's answer to the brazen League attempt to coerce America and his reply to the League's attempt to menace American independence and to seize for itself the powers of a super state.

America has been mistress in her own house for nearly 150 years. It is not likely she will surrender even a shred of her freedom of action at the request of Old World politicians anxious to save their jobs and force a cancellation of war debts. She is not likely to yield her independence and right of decision under the coercion of a League anxious to save its own face.

TRYING TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THEIR OWN DISLOYALTY

An attack upon the validity of the Fourteenth Amendment, (citizenship rights not to be abridged), launched at New Orleans more than half a century after its formal promulgation, can hardly have more than an academic interest. Instituted primarily to prevent the occupancy by a Negro of a Federal office to which he was appointed by President Coolidge, the plaintiffs intend to base their case upon the assumption that the reconstruction amendment was not ratified by two-thirds of the several States. It will be remembered that while ten of the Southern States, and three others, rejected the amendment, the representatives of the ten had not then been admitted to the Congress and the amendment was promulgated on the theory that so far as the Union was concerned they were non-existent and that therefore the twenty-three States that did ratify constituted more than the necessary two-thirds. But as the Southern States in question subsequently ratified as part of the prices of restoration to their political privileges, it is somewhat late in the day to raise the question of the validity of the amendment.

WE ARE ALL INTERESTED

Every week ought to be "Fire Prevention Week" in a civilized community, but as all American cities have much to learn in habits of carefulness and have to be reminded often of their duties in this and other respects, special weeks of this sort serve a useful purpose. If every household, for the fire-prevention propaganda is directed at the home quite as much as at the factory, will but make an inspection of the forgotten corners where waste and rubbish accumulate, the results in reduced fire losses would be surprising. But besides this, there are habits of carefulness, obvious precautions and prudences to learn that if generally adopted and practiced would still further remove the reproach of wastefulness justly directed against us as a nation.

To make a slip-over sweater with long sleeves, for a child from one and a half to two years old, buy six balls of white four-fold Saxony, one pair of size three bone or celluloid knitting needles, and one pair of size one bone celluloid needles.

Back: Using the size three needles, cast on 62 stitches and knit plain for 13 inches. Knit on 20 stitches, bind off 22 stitches, and start front on 20.

cast on at front six stitches three cast on at front six stitches three times. Knit 30 ribs even and then leave these stitches on a space needle. Make the other shoulder to correspond. Then work all across till front is same length as back, and bind off. (This "front" has a slit at neck, in the middle, which when buttoned would make a V-neck.) Below this slit the front is plain just like the back.

Sleeves: Cast on 35 stitches, increase one stitch at beginning of row at one end only 14 times, knit 35 even ribs, decrease for other side and then bind off. Sew in sleeves and sew up under arm.

Cuffs: Using the size one needles, again pick up stitches from wrong side around neck, knit four inches plain and bind off. Work four button loops on right side of front slit and place four buttons on left side. This completes the little sweater. It is most effective when the extreme lower edge is turned up an inch or two.

Afghan Stitch: (Requested by "Young Reader"): Work a chain the length you wish the finished afghan to be. (Use a very long crochet hook.) Turn, draw a loop through second chain front hook and retain on hook; repeat all across. This is only one-half of the afghan stitch which requires working across and back to form one row. To make the other half, yarn over hook and through one loop, * yarn times. Knit 30 ribs even and then over hook and through two loops, repeat from * all across, the loop left on the hook being the first loop

THAT OVERWHELMING SENSE OF USEFULNESS

There is no one, I believe, but has to fight against that subtle feeling which comes to us again and again and which seems to challenge us to show reason why we should keep going why we should do the right and noble thing, why we should see dignity and greatness in doing our work.

Why shouldn't we let things drift find their own ways, shape their own ends?..

The main reason is that all initiative is lost the minute that you lower the golden goal and desire for usefulness that is the heart of the soul.

It is said by many that happiness is a state of mind. I rather think of happiness as a state of action, of earnest striving for something worth while involving others.

When you secure happiness of this variety there comes to you an overwhelming sense of usefulness which lifts you up, drives you on, nourishes your bodily and spiritual life.

Those who give their total efforts to the mere making of money or advancing their own fame miss what life's all about.

But we know when we are helpful and hopeful to others. It comes right back to us. That same overwhelming sense of usefulness makes everything beautiful about us. It is like a fresh gathering of flowers of many colors in an intimate room.

STUDENTS ADVISED ON PREVENTION OF FIRE BY OFFICIALS

Central High School pupils were given a talk on fire prevention in connection with Fire Prevention Week, by Chief T. B. Claire Thursday morning at assembly period.

Four Boy Scouts gave a demonstration on how to care for people burned by fire and two high school boys and one girl gave a demonstration before the assemblage on common causes of fire.

One of the boys gave a demonstration of how a fire may be started by smoking in bed. Another showed what would result from light a match to a gasoline stove, while the girl showed the results of leaving an iron on an ironing board while she tended to some other work or gossiped with her neighbors.

Chief Claire gave statistics in his talk of the thousands of lives and millions of dollars lost by fires every year. Insurance companies in the city, in observance of fire week are putting up posters and putting on a fire prevention advertising campaign against the demon fires.

A general cleanup of the city is being sought by Chief Claire and inspections by members of the fire department will follow the cleanup, so that results may be shown in the reports of the inspections. In some cities a second or follow-up inspection is made to show how far the fire hazards found in the first inspection have been corrected.

The inspection by members of the fire department however or other experienced men if not confined to special areas or sections can at best be only superficial. Self-inspection will supplement the work of the Fire Department inspector especially in the residence districts, and in addition will prove of great educational value to the citizen making it, it is said.

PROCESS OF SILK PRODUCTION MAY BE SEEN AT STORE

The interesting story of the manufacture of silk is presented in a new and attractive way in a display at the Jobe Brothers Store, in which the various processes from the raising of the silk worms to the finished product of lustrous silk, is shown.

The display, which was sent to the local store by Belding Bros. silk manufacturers, consists of specimens of cocoons, various parts of machinery used in the manufacture of silk and large placards showing the production and manufacture.

The placards show the cycle of life of the silkworm, the eggs, the silkworm, the cocoon and the habits of the worm. The worm spins silk by forcing a thick liquid from two small tubes on either side of the jaw. On reaching the air this liquid hardens and forms a thread and the two filaments join into one.

This is wound about the body of the worm, and it takes about four days for the worm to complete its cocoon. There are two kinds of cocoons, pure white and bright yellow. Both colored cocoons are in the display. If unmolested the butterfly would cut its way out of the cocoon by cutting its silk coating and thus make it impossible to unwind the thread so to kill the chrysalis the cocoons are steamed or baked or put in airtight earthen jars. Of course enough cocoons are saved for breeding purposes.

After the worm or chrysalis has been killed the cocoons are dried and are ready for the market and are sold to establishments that reel or unwind the thread. The methods by which the raw silk is prepared for weaving and processes of weaving are all shown in the attractive posters. Every one is invited to visit the store and see the display.

DEMOCRATS MAKE CAMPAIGN PLANS

The first step in the November election campaign was taken by the Democratic party at a meeting of the Greene County Central and Executive Committees in the Assembly room of the Court House Thursday afternoon when Democratic literature was distributed. Campaign headquarters have not been announced.

Edward Wood and Fred Shellabarger, chairmen of the Executive and Central Committees, and the secretaries of both committees will arrange for Democratic speakers, at a banquet to be given at the Southern Hotel in Columbus, Tuesday evening, October 14, given by the State Campaign Committee.

The services of both state and national speakers will probably be acquired, according to Mr. Wood.

REPORT BUDDHISTS ATTACK AMERICANS

London, Oct. 10.—Buddhists at Rangoon attacked two American teachers Mr. and Mrs. Greason and maimed them for life, according to a dispatch received here today.

Rangoon is shocked by the unprompted attacks, the dispatch said.

GAVE AWAY FORTUNE; CLERKS FOR $15 A WEEK

EDWARD W. WASHBURN, JR.

Because, he said, his wife and daughters made him eat at a separate table and made life miserable for him, Edward W. Washburn, of Brockton, Mass., gave his business there, worth $500,000, to his family and disappeared. For a time it was thought he had committed suicide. Now he has been found clerking in a Brooklyn N. Y., store for $15 a week, but he says he is happy.

Beautiful Japanese Sees Movies Made.

KIKUKO TERAU

Kikuko Terao, called the most beautiful woman in Japan, recently visited Hollywood, Cal., studios to learn something of the making of moving pictures. Her name translated into English means "Child of the Chrysanthemum." She is the wife of Thaig O'Connor, former lecturer of the Imperial Naval Staff College in Tokyo.

OLD TIME FIRE DOG IS MADE "CHIEF."

PETE ENNIS & "REX" JR.

When fifteen years, "Rex" has been the official mascot of Engine No. 4, of the New York City Fire Department, in Mauden Lane, the heart of the jewelry center, and has seen to more fires than any other dog. In fact, few firemen equal his record. On his fifteenth birthday the firemen gave him a fire helmet like their own with the inscription "Chief," by which title he is now addressed. He is too old to run to fires any more so he rides alongside Pete Ennis, the chauffeur.

Politics Doesn't Interest Richest U. S. Woman.

Mrs. James P. Donohue, daughter and sole heir to the immense estate of her father, the late F. W. Woolworth, chain store proprietor, of New York City, pays more income tax than any woman in America—more than $1,000,000 a year. Mrs. Donohue does not belong to any political party, and never votes, devoting herself entirely to her home and her children.

MILLIONS HEARD HIM ANNOUNCE BASEBALL SERIES.

GRAHAM MCNAMEE, JR.

Here is Graham McNamee, official announcer for broadcast station WEAF, New York City, who announced the play-by-play description of the World's Series in Washington and New York, and who was heard literally by millions of fans. Eight of the biggest stations in all parts of the country are hooked up by land wires to his microphone, amplifying his voice and retransmitting it by radio. He was snapped in his press box seat in the second game in Washington.

DELAWARE WHIPPING POST.

The whipping post as a punishment for lesser crimes is still used in Wilmington Del., as this photograph shows. Although the lash is applied lightly the victim of this ancient form of punishment loses his right to vote.

FIRST PICTURES OF CHINESE WAR, SNAPPED UNDER HEAVY FIRE

① NOVEL PROTECTION ② RED CROSS OPERATING TABLE ③ CHEKIANG ARTILLERYMAN ④ REMOVING WOUNDED ⑤ CHEKIANG SOLDIER ⑥ BRITISH MARINE ⑦ CHEKIANG GUN ⑧ DUGOUT

These are the first pictures of the fighting for the possession of Shanghai, China, snapped by a staff correspondent of the International News Service. Believe it or not, Chinese soldiers carry their umbrellas into action, and in Figure No. 1, a Chekiang Province gunner defending the city may be seen seeking shelter under his in a trench on the Huangtu front. The Red Cross operating table on the same front was made from two Red Cross kit boxes and a door panel. The Chekiang artilleryman, under heavy fire, finds a safe berth under his gun. Despite the intensity of the fire, his tea kettle at the right was going merrily. The wounded are removed in rickshaws by conscripted coolies, who also must take up ammunition and food. The photograph of the Chekiang private was taken under rifle and machine gun fire, but he didn't seem to mind. British marines are ashore and encamped in Jessfield Park, outside the foreign settlement in Shanghai, to protect foreigners. This modern Chekiang gun, surrounded by empty cartridge cases, was fired many times at Huangtu. The Chinese guns are of German, French and Japanese manufacture.

Sand Exposed O'Connell's Organized Band Robs. Bribery Attempt.

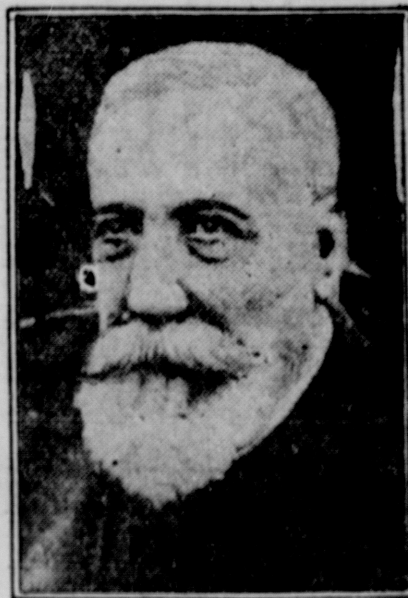

HEINIE SAND, JR.

Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis gave high praise to Heinie Sand, shortstop for the Philadelphia Nationals, for exposing the attempt of "Jimmy" O'Connell, center fielder for the New York Giants, to give him $500 to throw a game and clinch the National League pennant for the Giants.

New York State police believe an organized band is pillaging the Summer homes of the wealthy. The fifth big robbery in two weeks occurred when rare jewels and silverware were stolen from the "Gray Crag," the Tuxedo Park home of Mr. and Mrs. Forsythe Wickes. The adjoining home of Robert Mortimer was robbed at the same time.

Below: IDA TARDELL & ANATOLE FRANCE.

A serious rift in the House of Windsor is seen in the mysterious and apparently hurried christening of the second son of Viscount Lascelles and Princess Mary, daughter of the British rulers. The monarchs are said to have decided on the name Ulick David for the baby, while Princess Mary, who has a mind of her own, named the baby Gerald David. Her parents were conspicuously absent from the christening. Anatole France, famous French author, is near death at his home in Tours, France. Ida M. Tarbell, historical writer, is confined to her New York City home with a broken wrist, sustained in a crush at a Democratic rally in Madison Square Garden.

IMPORTANT DEMOCRATIC POST FOR WOMAN New Secretary of State for India

MRS. MARGARET ALLMAN & HER SONS.

When Cordell Hull, retiring chairman of the Democratic National Committee, appointed Mrs. Margaret Allman, of Canton, Ohio, as a member of the National Finance Committee, he established a precedent, no woman ever having served before. Mrs. Allman is a candidate for State Assembly. Left a widow ten years ago with four small sons, Mrs. Allman was faced with the necessity of providing a home for them. She became an expert in financial and taxation matters and is sending all four of her sons to college.

WAGE EARNERS ARE BETTER OFF WITH WAGE CUTS-BABSON

Babson Park, Mass. Oct. 3 1924—When the American Woolen Company recently announced that it must suspend its dividend, and the stock dropped 20 points, Roger W. Babson announced that it was largely due to the action of the company in the spring of last year in increasing wages 12 1/2% when other woolen companies felt there should be wage reductions. He claimed that the American Woolen Company then stood out alone against wage reductions when other New England mills felt that such reductions were in the interests of wage earners, stockholders, and the public generally.

"The American Woolen Company is now suffering for its action at that time," states Mr. Babson. In commenting further on this wage situation, he says:

"During the war, wages increased very rapidly. In early 1920 they stood at what was then the highest point in the history of industry in the United States. The panic of 1920 resulted in some wage cutting. In 1922, however, wages again began to increase, until, at the present moment, they stand at approximately 10% above the peak of 1920 and at the highest point, both in dollars and in purchasing power, ever reached. Employees are determined to keep them where they are or to push them even higher. Moreover, certain employers have cooperated with the wage workers in this attempt.

"In the years since 1914 great changes have come over the industrial situation. The producing power of the great new factories stand as monuments of the zeal of war time, while other pre-war factories are idle and placarded with 'For Sale' signs. It will take years for the consuming power of the country, through domestic and foreign trade, to catch up with this development. This feature is against the wage ambitions of the employees. On the other hand, during and since the war we have entered upon a plan to limit and regulate immigration. Not only do we select who shall come, but the total admissible is but a fraction of what we admitted before the war. This change plays into the hands of employees. So the battle goes on between those who want wages kept up, on the one hand, and those who would reduce them on the other.

"Wage rates are what an employer agrees to pay his employees, and it is over wage rates that employers and employees fight. Earnings—what the employee gets in his pay envelope—are the result of multiplying wage rates by hours worked or by product turned out. In a years time this product constitutes the yearly income of the worker and determines whether he can afford to buy an automobile.

Real wages are what the employee can buy with his earnings. Real wages are much talked about by academic people, uplifters and the like, but they do not cut much figure in wage contests. No industry can pay real wages unless it is making money enough so that it does not have to cut corners. Wage Rates are what employees are interested in first of all, then they are interested in what is earned under the rates. It is of no great importance to have wage rates high if earnings are low.

"In the past two years a new tendency has appeared in industry. Our records show that in that time one hundred and fifty firms have reduced wages from the peak of 1923. Thus wage rates have been reduced in 37 textile mills, in 24 shoe shops, in 14 iron and steel mills, in 12 metal trade shops, in 10 lumber plants, and so forth. These do not represent all of the cuts. These reported cuts are the result of a sampling system in vogue in my office. The total number of wage cuts is much in excess of these figures. While other employers have been raising wages or allowing them to stay where they were, these textile mills, shoe shops, and steel mills have been reducing wages!

"Now what makes earnings go up or down is work. What makes work is orders. What produces orders is ability to sell, and ability to sell depends upon price. This last was never truer than it is today. What is the position of the textile man who has raised or held up wages as a seller of goods compared with the 37 textile mills that have cut wages? What is the position of the shoe maker who has not reduced wages going to be as a seller of shoes in competition with the 24 other shoe shops that have cut wages?

"Put in another way, that question means. How much are the employees of those textile mills and those shoe shops going to earn during the next twelve months compared with the total earnings during the same period of the people who work in the mills and shops that have cut wages? And what is going to be the result when the salesmen of the high wage plants report to their boss that they cannot get orders because the low wage shops are selling for less money than they can offer goods for? Every low wage shop in any industry is an argument for lower wages in the other shops in that industry, because prices are the determining argument in getting orders. Employees who have these wage rates are going to be at work, when others, with higher wage rates are going to be working part time or not at all. It is the factory that can sell at a low price that will get the business during the coming months, and it is the employees of such factories that will have the largest earnings during the year even though their wage scales are lower.

"It is considerations of this sort that have influenced my thinking about wages," concluded Mr. Babson. "I am as sorry as anyone to see wages go down. I know, however, it is not wages that, in the last analysis, interest the wage earner. It is earnings.

ings. With our immense producing capacity, the sooner we get into line to sell goods at lower prices, the better for the workers. Wages may not go down much in the next few months. In the long run, they are bound to. No matter what happens to wages, the advantage now all lies with the factories and communities which are enjoying lower costs. The process is inevitable. The farmers have had their medicine in the way of deflation. Most business men have had theirs. It is simply impossible that the working population, should hang on to his peak wage rates and at the same time have work. The fact that he is trying to do this largely accounts for the present stagnation in industry and largely explains why the Babsonchart continues to register 12 per cent below normal. To avoid what has happened to American Woolen, other corporations are now making wage reductions which will ultimately be a benefit to both stockholders and employees."

FLU LEFT MCGUIRE WITH INDIGESTION

That Played Havoc With His Nerves—But Tanlac Set Him Right.

"After two months use of Tanlac I can say that it is wonderful," recently stated Joseph J. McGuire, 509 E. North St., Indianapolis, Ind.

"When I started taking it I was all knocked out as a result of the Flu. Nervousness, dizziness, headaches and loss of sleep continually nagged me. Indigestion caused palpitation and shortness of breath and my energy and strength seemed gone for good.

"At this time I only weighed 125 lbs., but now I tip the beam at 135 and am a new and different man. I eat three rousing meals a day, sleep fine and feel the same way. I don't believe anybody can go wrong taking Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

DEBUT PERFORMANCE OF "PHOEBE" PLEASES FIRST NIGHTERS AT OPERA HOUSE THURSDAY

A large crowd witnessed the opening night performance of "Phoebe", musical comedy, sponsored by the Delta Theta Tau Sorority, at the Xenia Opera House, Thursday night.

Good talent made up the cast and choruses. The production went through with but few mistakes and the cast and directors are to be commended upon their work in whipping the show into shape in such a short time.

The plot deals with the speculation of funds by Dr. Crawford (Walter Leonard) that belong to an old partner. The investments prove to be rather dubious and in order to save his name and honor, he has arranged that his son Keen (Robert Spahr) should marry Phoebe Dill (Gladys Sher). Keen has never seen Phoebe and Shadrach (the daughter of his partner) is not enthused over the agreement, but is madly in love with Janet Stornway (Louise Coffelt).

Edith Crawford (Erma Johnston) is engaged to David Dayton (Elwood Smith), but because of her father's disgrace considers the marriage an impossibility. Tom Harding (Harry Williams) who would do "anything for money" is engaged by Keen to marry Phoebe for a consideration of a couple of millions, to which Tom agreed. The entrance of Phoebe is a shock to all. Keen nearly faints. Her appearance is not at all what they expected. Tom recognizes in Phoebe his former sweetheart but cannot understand why she masquerades so ridiculously.

In the second act all the love tangles are straightened out and perfect harmony is established. The production is sparkling with wit, humor and song. Twenty-two musical numbers add greatly to the "go" of the production. Miss Shadrach and Mr. Williams are deserving of praise for the manner in which they portrayed the leading roles. They had several dancing acts that were beyond reproach. "Sweet Lady," a song and dance number was particularly well received.

Special mention goes to Miss Helen Hurley, who as Polly Holt and the "movie vamp" was excellent. She is well known among the amateur theatrical circles having appeared successfully before the "lowlights" in many other home talent shows. In the Satirical Pastime of the Early Movies, Miss Hurley was splendid and James, the English butler (Herbert Patterson) and the members of the "Jury" were very amusing. This skit, an original by G. W. Deacon, carried the show.

Miss Virginia Moorman, as Soy the Chinese maid in her two songs, "Chinese Lullaby" and "Little Green God" was good. Miss Moorman has a clear, pleasing voice and with her chorus in Chinese costumes and with lowered lights the effect was good.

The "Bacchanale," an aesthetic dancing act, was the most artistic scene in the show. Miss Helen Ford, as the Premier Danseuse, with her handmaidens, represented the "Feast of Bacchus" on Mt. Olympus.

Elwood Smith and Miss Erma Johnston in several songs and dance numbers were liked by the audience. Mr. Smith is well known as a dancer in the city, having danced before in various Phi Delta productions and other local talent shows. His ability as a dancer ranks close to professional.

Mrs. Louise Coffelt sang several numbers, "Yearning" and "Love Will Find A Way." Mrs. Coffelt has a fine voice and holds her audience.

Miss Frances Johnston as Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Harry Connell as Molly Holt and Frank A. Lott as "the plumber" carried their parts well. Mrs. Frank A. Lott, pianist was musical director.

The choruses were well trained

St. Paul Wins.

St. Paul, Oct. 10.—Baltimore was defeated, 5 to 2, by St. Paul yesterday in the fifth game of the little world series. The result gave St. Paul, American association title winners, two victories, and the International league champions three wins in the five games played. Five victories decide the series.

Oppose City Wage Scale.

Cleveland, Oct. 10.—An injunction suit to restrain the city council from paying the new wage scale for union labor employed by the city, authorized by the council this week, will be filed soon in a taxpayer's name. Foremost in the fight are the chamber of commerce, the Cleveland real estate board and building owners and managers.

Davis to Speak in Ohio.

New York, Oct. 10.—More confident than ever that he will be victorious at the polls in November, John W. Davis returned from his three-day speaking trip through New York to prepare for a new invasion of the west. The Democratic candidate left today for a swing that will carry him through Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky and Ohio.

Three Children Run Down.

Cleveland, Oct. 10.—Angeline Comela, 8, and her brother, Frank, 11, were struck by a small truck, which did not stop. Both children lay in the road until discovered by another driver. Frank's injuries are said to be serious, but he will recover. Another victim of a motorist who did not stop was John Markulin, 8, whose skull was fractured by a touring car.

Plans Drive For Funds.

Hamilton, O., Oct. 10.—Council will endeavor to solve the shortage in the safety fund of Hamilton by raising $20,000 by popular subscription. This plan was decided upon at a meeting of council. Councilman Paul Cartier was appointed general chairman and other city officials will be asked to assist in the drive.

Woman Takes Poison.

Toledo, Oct. 10.—Returning from a visit to her daughter's grave, Mrs. Emma S. Hanvey, 51, drank an ounce of poison here and died half an hour later.

and added greatly to the merit of the comedy. Quite a bit of talent was discovered in the newcomers to the stage.

The Delta Theta Tau and the Deacon Production Company can be assured of the success of the show. A fullhouse is expected at Friday night's performance. The balcony seats are not reserved and come straight at 50 cents. The curtain rises at 8:15.

Held in Connection with Officer's Death.

CAPT. ROSENBLUTH

Captain Robert Rosenbluth, of New York City, is soon to go on trial in Tacoma, Wash., with Roland R. Pothier a former army sergeant, charged with the murder of Major A. P. Cronkite, at Camp Lewis, Wash., in 1918. Major Cronkite was first thought to have killed himself accidentally at target practice, but his family alleges he was murdered by Pothier at Rosenbluth's command.

Embezzlement Alleged.
Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—Charles B. Lukens and A. C. Hamill, respectively former and present assistant cashiers of the Parkersburg (Pa.) National bank, which closed its doors last Saturday, were arrested here on warrants charging embezzlement. Arraigned before Federal Commissioner Manley, they both furnished heavy bail, Lukens' bond being fixed at $25,000 and Hamill's at $10,000.

COMMISSION TABLES PROPOSED TRAFFIC ORDINANCE AT MEET

Discussion of the proposed new city traffic ordinance drawn up by City Solicitor J. A. Finney, took place at the City Commission meeting at the City Hall Thursday night but no action of a definite nature was taken with regard to passing or rejecting it. The commission decided that further discussion was needed before it could be passed.

Several questions and interpretations of the proposed ordinance were discussed Thursday night by the commission. The main discussion centered around the definition of "main thoroughfare."

There are only two streets in the city now which are termed "main thoroughfares." They are Main and Detroit Streets, which are generally recognized as such. It was proposed at the meeting to make all streets running east and west in the city "main thoroughfares."

The maximum and minimum speed limit proposed in the ordinance was under discussion and may be subject to revision by the commission, as the minimum speed limit proposed is thought to be too high, with a tendency to promote reckless driving.

Two ordinances were passed by the commission for grading on Home Avenue and Monroe Street, extending the grading from the old corporation line to the new on Home Avenue. A resolution was passed to compel building of sidewalks on the west side of North Detroit Street.

The question of the proposed new traffic beacons for the city brought up before the commission at its last meeting by Oliver Belden, secretary of the Greene County Auto Club, was only slightly touched and no action was taken.

TO SELL CAKES

The Parent-Teachers' Association of Orient Hill is arranging for a sale of home-made cakes to be held on the Court House lawn Saturday beginning at 2 o'clock. In case of rain the sale will be held in the Goody Shoppe. Women who have donated cakes are requested to have them on hand by 2 o'clock.

Realtors Elect.
Marion, O., Oct. 10.—Warren Deem, Dayton, was elected president of the Ohio State Association of Real Estate Boards at the annual convention of the organization here. D. W. Beggs of Columbus was elected treasurer.

Members of the G. A. R. Post will be guests of the W. R. C. at a birthday party which will be held Saturday afternoon in the Post room at the Court House. The party will follow the regular meeting of the Post.

CANDY DAY is here!

You can tell it by the smiles of older people—the delightful chuckle of the children—the merry twinkle in the eyes of the "only girl."

The spirit of sweetness enveloped in every box of Huyler's candy has made them happy.

In general keeping with the day Huyler's have filled each box with a wider variety—a more winning flavor than ever before.

A sure way of making this day true to its name is with a box of chocolates from

VETERAN OF CIVIL WAR DIES FRIDAY

William P. Greene, for many years a resident of Xenia, died at 1 o'clock Friday morning at the home of his son, Jacob Greene, south of Patterson's Corner. He was 70 years of age and had been ill for five weeks. He removed with his son's family to their present home from Xenia a few weeks ago.

Mr. Greene was a veteran of the Civil War having served in the Thirty-fourth Regiment, O. V. I. He was a member of the Lewis Post G. A. R. The following children survive: Mrs. Clara Dornia of Dayton, Ky.; Mrs. Minnie LePage of Muskegon, Michigan; Mrs. Ardella Jolly of Oklahoma; Edward and Alonzo of Trebeins and Clarence and Jacob of Xenia.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 o'clock at the Woodland Cemetery chapel.

MUSIC CLUB HAS GUEST MEETING

Beginning its season's work, The Xenia Woman's Music Club held a delightful meeting at the home of Mrs. Alice Ruthrauff, North King Street, Thursday evening. Members of the club and those who were their guests for the evening were particularly favored by three Dayton artists, members of the famous Westminster Choir, who gave a charming program.

Mrs. Carlton McHenry, who directed the work of the choral society last winter, gave a talk regarding choral work and the fundamentals of voice teaching. Miss Ross Cecil, contralto soloist and Mr. George Kester, tenor soloist with the Westminster Choir, each sang several numbers and responded to enthusiastic encores. Miss Cecil, who has a glorious contralto voice, sang two Franz numbers, "Autumn" and "In A Church Yard" and Cadman's "At Dawning". Mr. Kester sang "I Love You" and "The Homing". Miss Stella Bishop was their accompanist. Assistant hostesses were officers of the club, Mrs. W. H. McGervey, the president and Mrs. A. V. Ferrill, Secretary.

ATTEND WEDDING

Mrs. Laura Alexander and Mr. and Mrs. S. Milton McKay, of East Second Street, will go to Cincinnati Saturday and will be present at the marriage of Mrs. Alexander's niece, Miss Mildred LeSourd, and Mr. George Ellers, of Cincinnati, which will take place Saturday evening at the Walnut Hills English Lutheran Church. Following the wedding ceremony a reception will be held at the Hotel Almas. A number of invitations have been issued for the wedding. Miss LeSourd, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank LeSourd, has frequently visited with her aunt in this city and has many friends here to whom the news of her marriage will be of much interest. Mr. and Mrs. Harry LeSourd, of West Market Street, went to Cincinnati Friday and will be guests at the wedding.

ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF BRIDE

Members of the C. L. of C. held an enjoyable social affair at the St. Bridget's School auditorium Wednesday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. Charles Wead, a recent bride. The afternoon was pleasantly spent with cards and other games and a refreshment course was served. The members of the organization presented Mrs. Wead with an electric iron and the prizes of the afternoon were also presented to the honor guest.

DEAR SIRs

Please guard your hair

By Edna Wallace Hopper
I feel sorry to see men grow bald. It is easy to keep and to cultivate hair, and you owe it to yourselves and to us.

For many years I have sought and consulted some of the world's greatest experts on hair. They all agree that hair health comes from a clean and healthy scalp. Combat the hardened oil and dandruff which stifle the hair roots. Tone and stimulate the scalp. Then hair thrives, just as flowers thrive in a well-kept garden.

Those experts have always supplied me the best help known to science. Each new and better help discovered has come to me at once. Now I have had all of these combined in a product I call my Hair Youth. I have placed it on drug and toilet counters at every woman's call. But men need it more than women, so this is written to urge men to learn how much it does.

I am no longer young. For 35 years I have been a stage star. But my hair today is thicker and finer than 40 years ago. I have never had falling hair or dandruff and never a touch of gray. Now I offer you in my Hair Youth every help which brought those results to me. I am well assured that they combine the greatest hair helps in existence.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Hair Youth is sold everywhere today. It costs 50c and $1 per bottle.

Write me for my Beauty Book and I'll send with it something else to please you. Edna Wallace Hopper, 536 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.

GIVES RECEPTION FOR VISITING COUSIN

Thirty-five relatives and close friends of Mrs. R. T. Grieve of West Market Street were entertained Thursday afternoon complimenting her cousin, Miss Elizabeth Crawford of Glendale, Cal., who has been visiting in Xenia and the vicinity for some time.

The perfect October day combined with the cordial welcome and attractively decorated rooms made the afternoon one filled with much pleasure. Mrs. E. H. Carruthers gave a reading "How Mr. Keith Managed When His Wife Was Away," substituting the name of Mr. Grieve for that of Mr. Keith. The company also enjoyed a contest, the matching of slashed advertisements, of which Mrs. David Turner had charge. Delicious refreshments in two courses were served. Assisting the hostess were: Mrs. Ella Lorrimer, Miss Maude Stewart, Mrs. C. W. Tindall, Mrs. C. H. Kyle, Miss Mary Bickett, and the little Misses Virginia Babb and Rebecca Lorrimer.

The out of town guests were Mrs. James Crawford of Washington C. H., Mrs. Anna Holmes of Bellbrook; Mrs. Grant Miller of Trebeins; Mrs. Allie

Bird of Cedarville and Mrs. W. W. Hyslop of Springfield.

Miss Crawford, the honor guest, was wished God-speed on her journey home the latter part of the month by the company in parting.

W. R. C. INSPECTION IS CONDUCTED

At the regular meeting of the Women's Relief Corps held Thursday afternoon at the Post room in the Court House inspection of the order was conducted by Mrs. Harriet Taylor Toledo, state inspecting officer. The regular work of the Corps was put on and Mrs. Taylor complimented the local teams highly on the manner in which the work was presented. Following the inspection a social hour was enjoyed and tea was served. Mrs. Elizabeth Richter, of Cincinnati, was a guest of the Corps for the occasion.

W. C. T. U. HOLDS MEETING

The South Side W. C. T. U. met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Emery Beal on the Union Road with thirty-five members in attendance. Mrs. Mose Hagler presided and the devotionals were led by Mrs. A. M. Tonkinson, of the Albert Turrell Union. Mrs. Harry Seibert gave an interesting report of the County Convention recently held in this city and lightful way of her recent trip through the Holy Land and to the battle fields of the World War.

Following the program Mrs. Beal served a refreshment course. She Fudge.

was assisted by Mrs. Alex Watkins, Mrs. Joe Ledbetter and Mrs. John served a refreshment course. She Fudge.

Good bakings are becoming a matter of fact in this country. Years ago, the woman who had success on bake day was rare. Now, most anyone can be proud of their bakings,—the young bride, the school-girl and all.

Calumet Baking Powder has made all this possible, it is sitting on the pantry shelf in millions of homes, that's the secret of baking success—the real reason for uniform and wholesome food.

If you are among the few who are not familiar with the results obtained from using Calumet, try it—learn the difference between the results that come from using a perfect leavener and those that are experienced when using unreliable brands.

To follow the directions on the Calumet label is to invite success. You must not use as much as you do of many other kinds. You know Calumet has greater leavening strength than many other brands—it goes farther—makes more bakings—the last spoonful is as good as the first.

EVERY INGREDIENT USED OFFICIALLY APPROVED BY U. S. FOOD AUTHORITIES

SALES 2 1/2 TIMES THOSE OF ANY OTHER BRAND

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. cans instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

TOBACCO GROWERS TO NAME OFFICERS AT MEETING SOON

Members of the Miami Valley Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association in seven counties near Dayton are preparing for the first annual meeting and election since the association started operations. The meeting will be held in Dayton, November 1, with preliminary elections preceding it.

First meetings preparatory to the election will be held in every township in which the association has members. Delegates chosen at the first meetings in every township in which the association has members, according to the amount of tobacco going through the association from each township, will meet in each county seat in the seven counties October 23, when the delegates will nominate directors, the election taking place at the annual meeting.

The association, according to its officials, has advanced more than a million dollars to its members on delivery of tobacco of the 1923 crop. Up to and including September 2 sales amount to more than $600,000 with more than 45,000 cases on hand. Application has been made by the Miami Valley Warehouse Corporation for the bonding of eight warehouses, being used by the association under the licensing of grades, weights and inspectors who are hauling tobacco of the association. The warehouses bonded are expected to be used by the association for storage of higher priced tobacco and that which will be used sometime before the sale, according to officials. Storage of tobacco in bond were houses is expected to make financing of the marketing operations easier since Intermediate Credit Banks may be used when warehouse receipts are available.

WIFE HELPS ELECT HUBBY

"After having been in bed half the time for a year with severe pains in my right side over the appendix, stomach trouble and bloating, which the doctors seemed unable to reach with medicine, and advised operation as the only remedy, my nurse advised me to try May's Wonderful Remedy, and its results have truly been wonderful as I am now entirely well and strong, and at the last election worked hard to elect my husband." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sayre & Hemphill, and druggists everywhere.

What Makes The Quality in Rubber

The perfection of the vulcanization—the proper treating of India Rubber with sulphur at high temperature to improve pliability and elasticity. Cheap rubbers won't last—they have little strength and are practically valueless. Good quality rubber, such as we sell, is all that you should buy. ## BRINGING UP FATHER

I WISH I HAD NEVER MADE THAT BET I WOULDN'T SMOKE. EVERYWHERE I GO, PEOPLE ARE 'SMOKIN'—I'LL GO HOME TO GIT AWAY FROM IT.

By GEORGE McMANUS

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

MARY HAYWARD, a famous beauty, for six months has been nominally the wife of

SIR NIGEL CAVENDISH, who promised her to release her at the end of that time, knowing that she loved

BRUCE GILLIAN, and had married him during a misunderstanding with Bruce. Leaving Nigel at a camp in the Canadian Rockies, she goes to Seattle to join Bruce and make arrangements for their marriage when Nigel has had their marriage annulled. But

WILMA RAYMOND, a friend of Nigel's, sends to the more sensational newspapers a story stating that she has eloped with Bruce, and recalling the sensational murder years ago of a man whose name was linked with Mary's. Determined to clear everything up, Mary leaves for the East without waiting for Bruce, leaving him a note insisting that she cannot marry him because of the publicity she has attracted. She goes to Maine to find

CAMILLA WAITE, who cleared her of suspicion at the time of the murder by claiming that they were together that night.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT

LXV—A RAY OF HOPE.

MARY was up the next morning before anyone else but the servants stirred about the club house; she had left an old bathing suit in her locker at the club, and quickly donning it, she ran down to the beach and had a swim in the blue, sun-swept water. The waves were running rather high; as she dove through them and then swam lazily in their wake for a moment, she wondered why life couldn't always be as simple as this. Just wearing comfortable clothing, and playing about in the sun, and not worry—how ideal. Yet men and women struggled and hurt each other and dealt in all kinds of unkindness and intrigue, just for the sake of getting something more than they had.

VIOLET DARE

"And I've got to go back into it, myself," she reflected, as she let herself be carried in toward shore with the tide. "Right this minute I've got to go back and face Camilla. Well, it may be hard, but what a relief when it's over! I won't have anything left of myself; I won't be 'Lovely Mary' any more, or Lady Cavendish, or anything but just a woman of twenty-three who has to make her own way in the world. But at least I can do it in my own way. I won't have to live up to what other people expect of me. I'll be as free as any other girl who works, and doesn't have the whole world as an audience."

Resolutely she refused to let her thoughts drift to Bruce Gillian. The memory of him was too precious to soil with unhappiness.

"I shan't be one of those wretched women who go about moping, looking as if life held nothing for them," she decided, as she lay on the sand with the early morning sun beating down on her. "Happiness and serenity are weapons to hold against the world; I'm going to be happy if it kills me!"

She breakfasted at the Atwoods' cottage; that is, she drank orange juice and ate bran muffins. Vera, with gusty sighs, had only orange juice. Jim grinned as he tackled fruit breakfast food, eggs baked on slices of ham, hot muffins and coffee, and Nancy, giggling over her mother's diet, was preparing to devote herself to French toast, liberally supplemented by maple syrup, when her mother intervened.

"You'll look like a baby elephant by November if you keep on like that!" she declared. "Do be careful, Nancy. You don't want to be known as the season's fattest debutante, do you?"

"Oh, I'll live on baked potatoes and milk for a month and take it all off," laughed Nancy. "I've got all October to do it in. And besides, I'll be rotten at tennis if I don't eat lots; you should see Hildegarde Graham. Can't much more than send a ball over the net. I'm not going to be ruled by my figure, Mom!"

Vera shrugged her shoulders and rang for more orange juice. She had spent restless night, worrying over Mary; at least three times she had gone scurrying into her husband's room, to wake him and demand breathlessly "Jim, what are we going to do about Mary? I'm afraid that she'll make trouble for herself; she must be careful now. Can't you go to this place in Canada where Nigel is staying and persuade him to be reasonable? Or perhaps I could get Mary to go back to him—"

"All right—all right—" Jim had muttered sleepily. "Just let me alone now!"

But this morning it was more difficult to plan to take Mary's affairs in hand. For Mary was so serene, so sure of herself, that her attitude made it seem unlikely that she would let even these devoted cousins manage her life.

She walked back to the club with "That would be madness!" she cried.

Vera, and was amiable, enough save on that one count. Jim and Nancy, sauntering along ahead of them on the sandy path, could not help overhearing her as she finally said emphatically "No, Vera. I know exactly what I've got to do and I'm going to do it. I've had this all out with myself, and I'm sure I'm right. You're a dear, but I've lived to suit other people long enough. At first it seemed impossible that I could carry out my plans; now I know that there's no other way. Bruce? Oh—that's all over," her voice suddenly grown sadder as she mentioned the name of the man she loved.

They left her when she reached the clubhouse. She went to one end of the long veranda, which was empty now. And it was there that Camilla joined her a few moments later.

"You wanted to see me?" Camilla drawled, leaning against the banister. "It won't take long, will it, Mary? I have an engagement in ten minutes."

"No, it won't take long," Mary replied. "Camilla, the truth about Neale Phillips' death has got to be told, now. And I thought it would be kinder to let you tell it."

Camilla stared at her for a moment, her face pale beneath its coat of make-up. Then she stepped forward, angrily. "That would be madness!" she cried.

"No, not madness, just the truth," Mary answered. "It had to come sometime, Camilla. You must have known that always. It won't hurt you, don't you see that? I'm the one who'll be blamed. And I shan't mind that, now."

Tomorrow—The Truth at Last.

Why go half way? ALL-BRAN is a necessity!

When constipation is ripping the health out of your body, you can't afford to temporize! For health's sake—DON'T—when Kellogg's, because it is ALL BRAN, is guaranteed to give you positive, permanent relief!

Know the truth about bran! To be efficacious, to give you sought-for relief, bran must be ALL BRAN! Foods with a part bran content cannot be considered as a relief for constipation sufferers! These foods do not have the bulk or "roughage" to drive out the conditions that are undermining your health!

What you need for 100 per cent relief is 100 per cent bran, and that is what you get when you buy Kellogg's—IT IS ALL BRAN! And it is 100 per cent efficient, as your physician will tell you!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, all cooked, krumbled and ready to eat, is delicious as a cereal or used in baking and cooking. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily, or as much with each meal in chronic cases—and rid yourself of constipation and the toxic poisons that lead to many of the most dreaded human ailments!

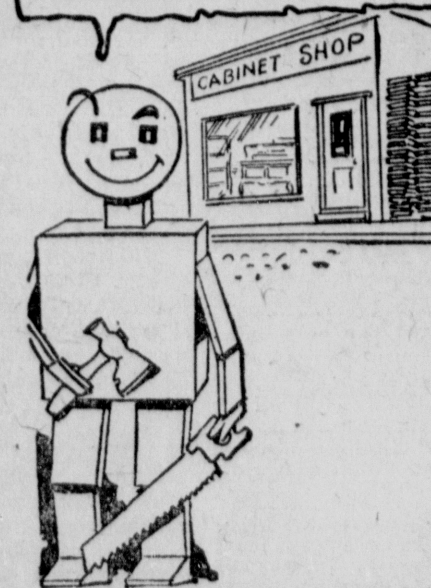

Remember—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to give you 100 per cent relief! DON'T GO HALF-WAY! All grocers.
